GENERATOR WELCOMES RETURN OF DAN KING

Dan King has returned to Generator taking on the role of Business Development & Training Manager, based at the company's European Head Office in the UK. Dan brings with him a wealth of industry experience and knowledge and will now head Generator's new training department as well as taking on the responsibility of developing business globally.

"I am very excited about returning to Generator and it's great to be back in the industry I know and love. We have designed some amazing and innovative new training courses as well as the newest Generator Express. I look forward to seeing the familiar faces again and to working with such an exciting and professional team here at Generator".
